These laws and regulations may change at any time, possibly with retroactive effect. Furthermore the tax treatment may depend on the personal situation of the investor and may be subject to change in the future. This information is not purported to be a complete description of all potential tax effects. Potential investors are advised to consult their tax advisors to determine the special tax consequences of the purchase, ownership or disposition of the Product.

General Tax Information

Transactions and payments related to this product may be subject to additional (foreign) transaction taxes and or withholding taxes such as US withholding taxes pursuant to FATCA (Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act) or the Section 871(m) of the US Internal Revenue Code. Any amounts due, shall be paid net of such taxes. The issuer is not obliged to pay additional amounts with regard to amounts so withheld.

Product Description

A Range Accrual Warrant allows the holder thereof to benefit from a decrease in the value of the Underlying down to the Lower Range Limit and an increase in the value of the Underlying up to the Upper Range Limit. The Warrants entitle the investor upon exercise on the Exercise Date to receive an amount of cash from the Issuer on the Settlement Date, which amount is dependent upon the number of Observation Dates during the Observation Period on which the Final Level of the Underlying was neither at or above the Upper Range Limit nor at or below the Lower Range Limit. Such accumulated amounts are also reflected in the prices in the secondary market of the Product.

The Upper Range Limit and Lower Range Limit for the Underlying are calculated on the Launch Date and equal to a percentage of the Underlying's Initial Level.

If on every Observation Date during the Observation Period the Final Level of the Underlying was either at or above the Upper Range Limit or at or below the Lower Range Limit, then the cash amount to be paid upon exercise will be equal to zero and investors will suffer a total loss of their investment. The higher the number of Observation Dates on which the Final Level of the Underlying was neither at or above the Upper Range Limit nor at or below the Lower Range Limit, the higher the cash amount to be paid upon exercise will be. Therefore, the cash amount to be paid upon exercise on the Settlement Date depends on the development of the value of the Underlying.

Range Accrual Warrants include an automatic exercise feature, which means that the Paying Agent shall automatically exercise such Warrants on the Exercise Date, if following such exercise an amount is payable to the investor, i.e. if the Product is "in-the money".

II. Profit and Loss Prospects

If on every Observation Date during the Observation Period the level of the Underlying was either at or above the Upper Range Limit or at or below the Lower Range Limit, then the cash amount to be paid upon exercise will be equal to zero and investors will suffer a total loss of their investment.

III. Significant Risks for Investors

The following risk disclosure cannot disclose all the risks associated with an investment in the Products. Therefore, potential investors in Products should consult the Base Prospectus and the Final Terms and their client advisor as to the product specific risks before making an investment decision.

1. Issuer Risk

Investors bear the credit risk of the Issuer. The Products' retention of value is dependent not only on the development of the value of the Underlying, but also on the creditworthiness of the Issuer, which may change over the term of the Product. The credit rating of the Issuer is not a guarantee of credit quality. In case of the Issuer's insolvency or bankruptcy the investors in the Products may lose their entire investment.

The Products are direct, unconditional, unsecured and unsubordinated obligations of the Issuer. If the Issuer were to become insolvent, claims of investors in Products will rank equally in right of payment with all other unsecured and unsubordinated obligations of the Issuer, except such obligations given priority by law. In such a case, investors in Products may suffer a loss of all or a portion of their investment therein, irrespective of any favourable development of the other value determining factors, such as the performance of the Underlying(s).

The Products do not constitute bank accounts or deposits at Bank Julius Baer & Co. Ltd. The Products are less liquid than bank accounts or deposits and bear higher risks. An investment in Products will not be covered by any compensation or insurance scheme (such as a bank deposit protection scheme) of any government agency of Switzerland or any other jurisdiction and Products do not have the benefit of any government guarantee. Products are the obligations of the Issuer only and holders of Products must look solely to the Issuer for the performance of the Issuer's obligations under such Products. In the event of the insolvency of the Issuer, an investor in Products may lose all or some of its investment therein.

Bank Julius Baer & Co. Ltd. is a bank pursuant to the Federal Banking Act (BA; SR 952.0) and a securities dealer pursuant to the Federal Act on Stock Exchanges and Complex Products Trading (SESTA; SR 954.1) subject to the prudential supervision by the Swiss Financial Market Supervisory Authority FINMA in Berne (Laupenstrasse 27, CH-3003 Berne; <http://www.finma.ch>).

2. Product Risks

An investment in Products entails certain risks, which vary depending on the specific type and structure of the relevant Products and the relevant Underlying(s).

An investment in Products requires a thorough understanding of the nature of Products. Potential investors in Products should be experienced with respect to an investment in complex financial instruments and be aware of the related risks. A potential investor in Products should determine the suitability of such an investment in light of such investor's particular circumstances. In particular, a potential investor in Products should:

- have sufficient knowledge and experience to make a meaningful evaluation of Products, the merits and risks of investing in Products and the information contained in the Base Prospectus and the applicable Terms and Conditions;
- have access to, and knowledge of, appropriate analytical tools to evaluate, in the context of such investor's particular financial situation, an investment in Products and the impact the relevant Products will have on such investor's overall investment portfolio;
- have sufficient financial resources to bear all the risks of an investment in the relevant Products;
- understand thoroughly the Terms and Conditions applicable to the relevant Products and be familiar with the behaviour of the relevant Underlying(s) and financial markets;
- be able to evaluate (either alone or with the help of a financial adviser) possible scenarios for economic and other factors that may affect such investor's investment and ability to bear the applicable risks of an investment in Products until their redemption; and
- recognise that it may not be possible to dispose of Products for a substantial period of time, if at all, before their redemption.

The trading market for securities, such as Products, may be volatile and may be adversely impacted by many events.

Products are complex financial instruments. Investors generally purchase complex financial instruments as a way to enhance yield with an understood, measured, appropriate addition of risk to their overall investment portfolios. A potential investor should not invest in Products unless such investor has the expertise (either alone or with the help of a financial adviser) to evaluate how the relevant Products will perform under changing conditions, the resulting effects on the market value of the relevant Products and the impact such an investment will have on such investor's overall investment portfolio.

Risk of total loss

Products involve a high degree of risk, and prospective investors in the Products should recognise that, under certain circumstances, Products may have a redemption value of zero. Prospective investors should therefore be prepared to sustain a partial or total loss of the amount of their investment therein.

Unpredictable Market Value for Products

During the term of a Product, the market value of, and the expected return on, such Product may be influenced by many factors, some or all of which may be unpredictable. Many economic and market factors will influence the market value of a Product. The Issuer expects that, generally, the value and volatility of the Underlying(s) on any day will affect the market value of such Product more than any other single factor. However, a potential investor should not expect the market value of a Product in the secondary market to vary in proportion to changes in the value of the Underlying(s). The return on a Product (if any) may bear little relation to, and may be much less than, the return that the investor therein might have achieved if such investor had invested directly in the Underlying(s).

The market value of, and return (if any) on, a Product will be affected by a number of other factors, which may be unpredictable or beyond the Issuer's control, and which may offset or magnify each other, including, without limitation:

- supply and demand for such Product, including inventory positions of any other market maker;
- the expected frequency and magnitude of changes in the market value of the Underlying(s) (volatility);
- economic, financial, political or regulatory events or judicial decisions that affect the Issuer, the Underlying(s) or the financial markets generally;
- interest and yield rates in the market generally;
- the time remaining until the Final Redemption Date;
- if applicable, the difference between the Level or Commodity Reference Price, as applicable, and the relevant threshold specified in the applicable Terms and Conditions;
- the Issuer's creditworthiness, including actual or anticipated downgrades in the Issuer's credit ratings; and
- dividend payments on the Underlying(s), if any.

Some or all of these factors may influence the price of a Product. The impact of any of the factors set forth above may enhance or offset some or all of any change resulting from another factor or factors.

In addition, certain built-in costs are likely to adversely affect the market value of Products. The price at which the Issuer will be willing to purchase Products from a holder in secondary market transactions, if at all, will likely be lower than the original Issue Price.

Exposure to the performance of the Underlyings

Each Product will represent an investment linked to the performance of the Underlying(s) and potential investors should note that any amount(s) payable or other benefit to be received under the Products will generally depend upon the performance of the Underlying(s). The past performance of the Underlyings is not indicative of the future performance.

Exchange Rate Risk

The Underlying(s) may be denominated in a currency other than that of the Issue Currency or, if applicable, the Settlement Currency for such Product, or the Underlying(s) may be denominated in a currency other than, or the Issue Currency or, if applicable, the Settlement Currency may not be, the currency of the home jurisdiction of the investor in such Product. Exchange rates between currencies are determined by factors of supply and demand in the international currency markets, which are in particular influenced by macro economic factors, speculation and central bank and government intervention (including the imposition of currency controls and restrictions). Therefore, fluctuations in exchange rates may adversely affect the market value of a Product or the value of the Underlying(s).

Secondary Market

Products may have no established trading market when issued and one may never develop. If a market does develop, it may not be liquid. Therefore, investors may not be able to sell their Products easily or at prices reasonably acceptable to them.

Under normal market circumstances, the Issuer will endeavour to provide a secondary market for Products, but is under no obligation to do so. Upon investor demand, the Issuer will endeavour to provide bid/offer prices for products, depending on actual market conditions. There will be a price difference between bid and offer prices (spread).

Early Redemption

The investors must be aware of a possible early redemption of the Product.

Upon the occurrence of an extraordinary event, the Calculation Agent and the Issuer, acting together, have the right to, among other things, early terminate or redeem the relevant Products. If the Issuer exercises such early redemption right(s), investors should be aware that the early redemption price may be considerably lower than the Issue Price (or, if different, the price the relevant investor paid for such product) and/or the Final Redemption Amount that would otherwise have been paid on the Final Redemption Date.

Further product specific risks

Investors in Products that are Range Accrual Warrants should be aware that the cash amount to be paid to investors upon exercise is dependent upon the number of Observation Dates during the Observation Period on which the Upper Range Limit and the Lower Range Limit have not been reached (if so specified in the applicable Terms and Conditions) or breached, and, if such number of Observation Dates is zero, no cash amount will be paid upon exercise and investors will suffer a total loss of their investment.

The lower the number of Observation Dates on which the Upper Range Limit and the Lower Range Limit have not been reached (if so specified in the applicable Terms and Conditions) or breached, the lower the cash amount to be paid upon exercise will be.

For further details on the Product related risks please consult the risk disclosure brochure "Special Risks in Complex Products Trading" (Edition 2008) which is available on the Swiss Bankers

Association's website: <http://www.swissbanking.org/en/home/shop.htm> or may be obtained from your client advisor upon request.

IV. Index Information*Swiss Market Index (SMI®)*Description

As a blue-chip index, the SMI® (Swiss Market Index) is Switzerland's key equity index and comprises the 20 largest and most liquid equities. It represents about 85% of the free-float capitalisation of the Swiss equity market. As a price index, the SMI® is not adjusted for dividends, but a performance index that takes account of such distributions is available (the SMIC® - SMI Cum Dividend). Because the SMI® is considered to be a mirror of the overall Swiss stock market, it is used as the underlying index for numerous derivative financial instruments. Its composition is examined once a year. Calculation takes place in real-time: as soon as a new transaction occurs in a security contained in the SMI®, an updated index level is calculated and displayed.
