Definitions

NAV is the net asset value per share of the Fund ("Fund Share") as published by the administrator of the Fund on date t or, if on date t there is no such published net asset value per share, as estimated by the Calculation Agent.

The net asset value per Fund Share on the Fixing Date is the amount that a notional investor in Fund Shares, in the same position as the Issuer, would have to pay per share when subscribing for such Fund Shares on the Fixing Date ("Initial NAV")

The net asset value per Fund Share on the Termination Date is the amount that a notional investor in Fund Shares, in the same position as the Issuer, would receive per share when requesting redemption of such number of Fund Shares as represented in the Certificate on the Maturity Date ("Final NAV")

Fund Business Day means a day in respect of which (i) the administrator of the Fund calculates and publishes the net asset value of that Fund and (ii) a notional investor in the Fund Shares, in the same position as the Issuer, could subscribe and redeem such shares.

Redemption

The following redemption terms apply unless the Product is early terminated before the Maturity Date or otherwise falls due.

Each holder of a Certificate qualifies for redemption on the Redemption Date by the Issuer of an amount in the Currency of the Certificate that is calculated as follows:

$$\text{Redemption Amount} = \text{Final NAV of ETF in GBP on Maturity Date} - \text{COSI Fee}^{\text{Mat}}$$

whereas,

Final NAV of ETF

The net asset value per Fund Share on the Maturity Date is the amount that a notional investor in Fund Shares, in the same position as the Issuer, would receive per share when requesting redemption of such number of Fund Shares as represented in the Unit on the Maturity Date ("Final NAV")

COSI Fee^{Mat}

Cumulated fee for Collateral-Secured Instruments on the Maturity Date.

Proceeds

The Certificates do not entitle to the distribution of any dividends or proceeds even if the Fund distributes such dividends or proceeds

The occurrence, in the sole determination of the Issuer, at any time between Issue Date and Maturity Date, of any of the following will constitute an "Additional Extraordinary Event":

- a. the winding-up, dissolution, liquidation, permanent suspension, merger, demerger of the Fund or withdrawal of a licence or registration of the Fund, if any;
- b. the change of the currency in which the net asset value of the Fund is published;

- d. a material change to the type of the assets in which the Fund directly or indirectly invests;
- e. the Fund introduces new fees, costs or expenses which are charged to the assets of the Fund or increases such fees, costs or expenses;
- f. the Fund introduces an issue surcharge or a redemption fee or increases such surcharge or fee;
- g. the Fund administrator fails to calculate or publish the net asset value as provided by the Fund documentation or fails to publish other information on the Fund which has to be published pursuant to the Fund documentation;
- h. a net asset value audited by an auditor deviates from the published net asset value or the auditor of the Fund expresses reservations in its audit report or refuses to issue a report without reservations;
- i. any temporary or permanent suspension or other limitation of the trading of Fund Shares;
- j. any temporary or permanent suspension or postponement of redemptions or subscriptions of Fund Shares;
- k. the Fund requests any holder of Fund Shares to return all or part of its shares;
- l. any change of the tax or regulatory treatment of the Fund, the management company, the investment manager, the investment advisor or the Issuer;
- m. resignation, termination or another material change with respect to the management company, the investment manager, the investment advisor or their employees, whereas changes of a formal or technical nature as well as changes of little importance are not considered material;

- r. any other event which does or could materially adversely affect the ability of the Issuer to fulfil its obligations under the derivative or hedge its position with respect to the derivative.

Consequences of Additional Extraordinary Events

If the Issuer, at its sole discretion, determines that an Extraordinary Event has occurred or is impending, the Issuer shall give notice to the holders of the derivatives in accordance with the provisions of the Programme Documentation. The Issuer may, but is not required to, identify within five Business Days one or several alternative funds ("Successor Fund") in substitution of the affected Fund. The Successor Fund shall be a fund with fundamentally similar characteristics and investment objectives to those of the Fund to be replaced immediately prior to the occurrence of the Extraordinary Event. If the Issuer identifies a Successor Fund, the Calculation Agent shall make all necessary adjustments to the terms of the derivatives resulting from the substitution of the Fund. The date on which the terms of the derivatives are adjusted is referred to as the "Adjustment Date". Any reference to the Fund in the terms of the derivatives shall, with effect from the "Adjustment Date", be read as reference to the Successor Fund. Alternatively, the Issuer may, but is not required to, terminate the derivatives prematurely by giving notice in accordance with the provisions of the Programme Documentation. The termination is effective as of the date of the notification in accordance with the provisions of the Programme Documentation, provided that no subsequent day is identified in the notification (the "Termination Date"). The derivatives' term will end prematurely. In the event of an early termination, the Issuer shall pay to each holder of the derivatives an amount of money in the derivative's currency which is determined by the Calculation Agent, at its sole discretion, as the economic value of the derivative at the time of termination, taking account, if appropriate, of the relevant amount which a notional investor (being in the same position as the Issuer) would receive per Fund Share if it requested the redemption of the Fund Shares underlying the derivative on the Termination Date as well as the Issuer's costs in connection with the termination. For this purpose, it may call in an independent expert. The Issuer shall pay the redemption amount to the holder of the derivatives within five Business Days from the date on which a notional investor (being in the same position as the Issuer) would receive the full redemption amount if it requested the redemption of all Fund Shares on the Termination Date. Alternatively, the Issuer may determine the redemption date by giving notice in accordance with the provisions of the Programme Documentation.

If the Issuer elects not to substitute the affected Fund and not to prematurely terminate the derivatives, the Issuer shall, if necessary, at its sole discretion adjust the terms of the derivative so that the economic value of the derivative is, as far as legally and practically possible, equal to the economic value of the derivative prior to the occurrence of the Extraordinary Event. All adjustments are effective as of the date determined by the Issuer and published in accordance with the provisions of the Programme Documentation.

Ordinary Right of Termination of the Issuer

Subject to a notice period of one month, the Issuer has the right to terminate the Product without giving reasons on the last trading day of any month („Termination Date“). In the event of termination, each holder of a Product is entitled to a redemption amount equal to the Current Value on the Termination Date in the instrument's currency. The Current Value is determined by the Calculation Agent pursuant to the terms of the „Framework Agreement for Collateral-Secured Instruments“ of the SIX Swiss Exchange („Framework Agreement“) and is binding on the Issuer and the holders of the Product. The Current Value of this Product is calculated in accordance with the A method. Information on the calculation method is available on www.six-swiss-exchange.com.

Taxation

Stamp duties	No stamp duty at issuance. No federal turnover tax on secondary market transactions.
Withholding tax	No Swiss withholding tax.
Income tax	For private investors (individuals) with tax residence in Switzerland, the Product is treated like a unit of a collective investment scheme. The Issuer informs the Swiss Federal Tax Administration about the capital gains/losses and the earnings on the assets on an annual basis. Only the declared net earnings on the assets are subject to income tax.
EU Savings tax	For Swiss paying agents, this Product is not subject to the EU Savings tax. (TK 9)

The aforementioned taxes are valid at the time of launch of this issue. The relevant tax laws or regulations of the tax authorities may change at any time. Furthermore the tax treatment may depend on the personal situation of the investor and may be subject to change in the future. Prospects of Profit and Loss

The risks of an investment in the Certificates are comparable to the risks of a direct investment in the values covered by the Underlying as the typical risks with respect to the components of the Underlying are reflected by the Certificate (see, however, "1. Issuer Risk" below). The value of the Product during its term and the Product's total yield depend, in particular, on the performance of the values covered by the Underlying. As past performance is no guarantee of future development, the performance cannot be predicted at the time of the investment decision. A total loss occurs if the values covered by the Underlying have no value on the Maturity Date (if their price is zero).

This risk disclosure is not exhaustive. It cannot identify all Product specific risks. The investor is advised to consult its client advisor as to the Product specific risks and to peruse the "Risk Factors" section of the Program Documentation.

Significant Risks for Investors

1. Issuer Risk

The investment instrument's value is not only dependent on the development of the Underlying or values covered by the Underlying, but also on the creditworthiness of the Issuer, which may vary over the term of the structured product. For this Product, the investor's risk of loss in the case of insolvency or bankruptcy of the Issuer is lowered by the collateralisation.

2. Risks of Derivative Products

Derivative products are complex financial instruments, may therefore involve a high degree of risk and are intended for use only by sophisticated investors who are capable of understanding and assuming the risks involved. Before entering into any transaction, an investor should determine if this Product is suitable with regards to the particular circumstances and should independently assess (together with the client advisor) the specific risks as described under "Product Risks" and any other legal, regulatory or credit consequences. The Issuer makes no representation as to the suitability or appropriateness of this Product for any particular investor. This document does not replace a personal discussion with your client advisor, which is tailored to your requirements, investment objectives, experience, knowledge and circumstances and which is recommended by the Issuer before the investment decision. Please ask your client advisor about supporting information regarding this Product such as the Programme Documentation.

Commodities/Precious Metals: Prices of commodities and precious metals may be subject to greater volatility than the prices of other underlyings.

Furthermore, contracts on commodities and precious metals are more volatile in the months of their maturity. The development of prices of commodities and precious metals is in general especially difficult to predict and may depend on political situations and natural phenomena. In addition, commodities and precious metals are traded around-the-clock in different time zones. While a possible product specific limit, barrier etc. may only be reached, exceeded or fallen below during the trading hours of the reference stock exchange, strong price adjustments outside these trading hours may have significant implications for the price of the commodities and precious metals at the reference stock exchange.

Exchange Traded Fund (ETFs): ETFs are collective investment schemes which are traded on an exchange. The risks described with respect to collective investment schemes apply accordingly. In contrast to other collective investment schemes, ETFs are not actively managed. This means that the investment decisions are determined pursuant to the index, basket or individual underlyings which the ETF replicates. This also applies if such replication results in losses. Furthermore, the additional risk must be considered that the ETF could be delisted. A delisting generally results in an early redemption. Such an early redemption may result in a change of the anticipated return on the ETF and, accordingly, on the derivative which is based on the ETF as underlying.

Structured Products: Owning this Product is not the same as owning the Underlying or values covered by the Underlying. Accordingly, changes in the market value of the Underlying or the values covered by the Underlying may not result in a comparable change in the market value of the Product. Further, commissions, fees and other remunerations may reduce the actual market value. The trading market may be volatile and adversely impacted by many events which may include, but are not limited to, political events, corporate actions and macro economic factors.

Price fixing: The market value of the Underlying may be fixed outside the trading hours of the relevant stock exchange. The investor must be aware that the market value of the Underlying determined outside the trading hours of the relevant stock exchange can be subject to great volatility.

Secondary Market: The Issuer cannot provide any assurances as to how the Certificates will trade in the secondary market or whether such market will be liquid or illiquid. Due to the composition of the Underlying and the potentially limited liquidity of its components, investors must also be aware of an increased spread risk compared to other structured products. This means that during the term of the Product, bid and offer prices may differ to a considerable extent although the Lead Manager intends to provide according to the COSI market making obligations a market making subject to normal market conditions. The Lead Manager reserves the right to cease the posting of bid and offer prices upon the occurrence and for the duration of any exceptional market circumstances. In special market situations, where the Issuer is unable to enter into hedging transactions, or where such transactions are very difficult to enter into, the spread between the bid and offer prices may be temporarily expanded, in order to limit the economic risks of the Lead Manager. Further, the investor may only be able to sell the Product in the secondary market at a lower price than the original purchase price. It is important to note that if the Issuer decides to repurchase from the investor or sell to the investor Products on the secondary market, it cannot guarantee to take back/sell unlimited volumes of the Product at the prices provided by the Lead Manager. Once the volume reaches a certain amount (approx USD 5 Mln, the Issuer is therefore free to sell/purchase the components of the underlying over the counter, if there is a market for them, and to compensate/charge the investor the average execution price which is realized (less/plus a compensation of 0.25% based on the net price which is realized), which, depending on the respective components of the underlying, may cause considerable delays. At no time does the Issuer have an obligation to repurchase/sell Products.

Early Redemption: The investors must be aware of a possible early redemption of the Product. The Issuer has the right to ordinarily (without giving reasons) or, in the case of an extraordinary event, extraordinarily terminate the Product and call it for settlement. Notwithstanding termination, the Product remains collateralised until final redemption.

Currency Risk: The investor may be exposed to a currency risk, if the Underlyings are denominated in other currencies than the nominal of the Product or the Product is denominated in another currency than that of the country in which the investor is resident. The investment is therefore exposed to currency fluctuations and may increase or decrease in value.

Further Information: For further details on Product related risks please consult the risk disclosure brochure "Special Risks in Securities Trading" (Edition 2008) which is available on the Swiss Bankers Association's website: www.swissbanking.org/en/home/shop.htm or may be obtained from your client advisor upon request.

Collateralization

This Product is collateralized in accordance with the provisions of the SIX Swiss Exchange „Framework Agreement for Collateral-Secured Instruments" (hereinafter „Framework Agreement"). Bank Julius Baer & Co. Ltd concluded the Framework Agreement on January 14, 2010 and undertook to secure the value of the Product in favour of SIX Swiss Exchange at any time. The rights of investors in connection with the collateralization of the Product arise from this Framework Agreement. The principles of collateralization are summarized in an information sheet issued by SIX Swiss Exchange. This information sheet is available from the www.six-swiss-exchange.com website. The Issuer shall, upon request, provide the Framework Agreement to investors free of charge in the original German version or as an English translation. The Framework Agreement may be obtained from the below address (see „Additional Notes").

The costs for the service provided by SIX Swiss Exchange with respect to the collateralization of structured products may be taken into account in pricing a Product and may therefore be borne by the investors, as the case may be. With regard to the payment of the pro-rata share of the net realization proceeds the investor shall bear the solvency risks of SIX Swiss Exchange and the financial intermediaries along the payout chain. The payment to the investors may be delayed for factual or legal reasons. To the extent the calculation of the current value of a Product proves to be incorrect, the collateral provided for the Product may be insufficient.

The Current Value of this Product is calculated in accordance with the A method. Information on the calculation method is available on www.six-swiss-exchange.com.

2. Conflicts of Interest

Bank Julius Baer & Co. Ltd. and affiliated companies may from time to time enter into transactions for their own account or for the account of a client that are related to the Product. These transactions may not be intended for the benefit of the investor and may have positive or negative effects on the Underlying(s) or values covered by the Underlying and thus on the value of the Product. Companies affiliated to the Issuer and third parties may also become counterparties in hedging transactions. Accordingly, conflicts of interest may therefore arise with regard to obligations relating to the ascertainment of the values of the Product and other related valuations both between the companies affiliated to the Issuer and the investor and between third parties and the investors. In such events, Bank Julius Baer & Co. Ltd. will devote its best efforts to provide fair treatment of such conflicts.
